

Green Initiative Launched at Physicians Mutual

Physicians Mutual recently announced a new green initiative to employees - the Reusable Container Program. With the help of its food service provider, the company will eliminate nearly 6,000 styrofoam take-out food containers a month -- reducing the amount of styrofoam sent to the landfills. Employees will now receive their take-out meals served in a 9-inch reusable plastic container. This is great news for the environment since styrofoam does not decompose.

To date, hundreds of employees are participating in the program. The Reusable Container Program is one of several green efforts at the company.