

Physicians Mutual Employees Give Back to Community

Physicians Mutual employees showed their support to the community by contributing to the 2009 United Way of the Midlands Campaign. Thanks to their giving spirit, the company exceeded its contribution goal by raising $160,147 through fundraising activities and employee pledges.

Each year the company participates in the annual campaign. It's an opportunity for employees to give back to the community and make a difference in the lives of those in need.

Because of support from companies like Physicians Mutual, United Way is able to provide continued support to health and human service programs and agencies in the community. Support to the campaign ensures children will have safe places to go for educational and recreational activities, homebound seniors receive a nutritious meal, and people struggling with disease get needed support.
